

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly gratifying to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than commons of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from Peter Graham, living near Middleburg, Loudoun county, Va. on the night of the 25th of March last, a very likely Negro girl, named ANN, purchased of Wm. Noland, living at Aldie, Loudoun county, whose family she was raised in. She is of a yellow complexion, round faced, thick lips, with large staring eyes, and rather delicate featured for a slave;— small feet, a tolerable ready speech, and mild with it; about 18 years of age, middle size, and very well made; rather thick, about 5 feet high from appearance.
She had on when she went away a dress of coating cloth, made in a coat and jacket, with skirts of a brown muffle color. I have reason to believe she is in or near Philadelphia or New-York. I will give fifty dollars reward if taken in Fauquier, Loudoun, Prince William, or Fairfax counties, or the District of Columbia, if taken in any other county or state, and secured in any jail, so that I obtain information and get her, I will give one hundred dollars, and all reasonable charges paid in either case, if brought home.

APPEAL TO HUMANITY.

He that hath pity upon the poor, lendeth unto the Lord; and that which he hath given, will he pay him again.

PROVERBS xix, 17.

"Assist them, hearts from anguish free!
"Assist them, sweet humanity!"

Ah ye! who meet stern winter's frown,
Upheld by Fortune's powerful hand;
Who see the chilling snow fall down,
With all her comforts at command:

Oh think of their less happy doom,
Whom poverty's sharp woes assail!
No sparkling fire, no cheerful room,
Revives their cheek, cold, wan and pale.

Deep howls the wind! the pelting rain
Drips through the shatter'd casement cold;

While the sad mother's arms contain
Her infant, shivering in their fold.

In vain they raise their piteous cry,
And plead at hungry nature's call;
Their only food a mother's sigh!
Their only warmth the tears that fall.

Stretch'd on his miserable bed,
The wretched father sinks in grief;
Pale sickness rears upon his head,
And hourly hopes from death relief.

The parents' tender, mournful eyes,
Mingle their faint and humid beams;
Fresh woes from retrospection rise,
Fresh source from memory's fountain streams.

O, rich! the transports might be thine
To sooth their sufferings into peace;
To bid the sun of comfort shine,
And want's oppressive empire cease!

To see the glow of health return,
Re-animate their faded cheek!
Life's feeble spark rekindled, burn,
And give—what language cannot speak!

Blessed is he that considereth the poor!
The Lord will deliver him in time of trouble.

"The House of Delegates has appropriated $20,000, to remove the obstructions at the mouth of the Severn, provided the executive shall be assured that the general government will select Annapolis as a naval depot."

Resolved, that the general assembly of Maryland, that the attention of the Congress of the United States be respectfully invited to the defenceless situation of its territory, bordering on the waters of the Chesapeake Bay. The facilities offered by the boldness and ramifications of its borders to an invading force, are written in the history of the late war. Such a time of peace and national prosperity as the United States are now pre-eminently blessed with, permits the collected wisdom of the constituted authorities to devise the most efficient system of defence and allows the resources of the union to be applied to the future security of the seat of the American government.

Resolved, that our senators and the representatives in the Congress of the United States, be instructed and requested to use their best endeavours to effect the measures essential for the above object.

Resolved, that in the event of the United States establishing a naval depot at Annapolis, the Saint Mary's River, or at any other place within this State, Maryland will cede free of any expense to the general government, the necessary territory for that purpose.

Resolved, that his excellency the governor, be requested to transmit a copy of the preceding resolutions to our senators and representatives to be by them submitted to the consideration of both houses of Congress.

ALEXANDRIA: MONDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1818.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON.

Saturday, February 7, 1818.

So little worth notice was done yesterday in the House of Representatives, that I should not put you to the expense of a letter, if it were not to inform you that the bill granting a pension to major general Arthur St. Clair was passed.

The house then adjourned to Monday.

CHANGE OF WEATHER.

The temperature of our weather, which for the week previous had fluctuated between 65 and 43 deg. of Fahrenheit, the mornings frequently very foggy, on Friday last at noon fell to 37 deg. the wind being then N. N. E. In the evening the wind shifted to N. N. W. and the temperature fell to 35, when it commenced snowing, and continued until yesterday morning without intermission, blowing a perfect gale. The quantity of snow which now covers the ground is greater than has fallen here within the recollection of several of our old inhabitants. The weather, the latter part of yesterday, was clear, the wind moderate from N. E. and the thermometer about 57 deg. at 7 P. M.

[Beacon.]

We understand that the commissioners who have been for some time engaged in surveying Hampton Roads and the entrance of the Chesapeake, with a view to the erection of fortifications, have suspended their proceedings until May next. General Swift has gone to North Carolina, colonel Armistead and majors Roberdeau and Kearney have proceeded to Washington, and colonel M'Kee and lieutenant Blaney will leave here this day for the seat of government. Captains Warrington and Elliot, of the navy, have returned to their residence in this place.

THE MILITIA.

That clause of the constitution of the United States which gave to congress, to a certain extent, power over the militia, excited in the breasts of many men of distinction a strong spirit of opposition to that instrument. Among those persons none was more distinguished for talents and reputation than the celebrated Patrick Henry, of Virginia. He exerted his eloquence and ingenuity to the utmost in the convention of that state to prevent the adoption of the constitution, and very emphatically on this ground—"Congress," said he, "by the power of taxation, by that of raising an army, and by their control over the militia, have the sword in one hand, and the purse in the other. Shall we be safe without either?" "where and when did freedom exist, when the sword and purse were given up from the people? Unless a miracle in human affairs interposed, no nation ever retained its liberty after the loss of the sword and the purse." Such was the energetic language of a statesman, whose talents, foresight, and intuitive knowledge of political affairs, has ever been the theme of boasting among his countrymen. In his opposition to the constitution, he was zealously supported by the present chief magistrate of the United States, whose fears and forebodings seemed to be greatly awakened by that clause which granted to congress the power to make all laws necessary and proper for carrying into execution the power previously granted.

By the constitution of the United States, congress are authorised "to provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrection, and repel invasion." It was on the last clause of this provision that the constitutional question arose between the then president, and the governors of the New England states, relative to its true meaning and construction. The president called for the militia immediately upon the declaration of war, when there was not even the slightest appearance of invasion, or attempted invasion, upon the sea shore in those states, and these magistrates declined executing the order on the ground that the constitutional exigency, viz: invasion, had not taken place. Of the fact of invasion, they claimed the right of exercising their own judgment, otherwise it would at any and all times be in the power of a president of the United States, by barely declaring that in his opinion there was danger of invasion, to get as strong a military force as he might wish for into his hands, and at the same time he would be able to strip the several states of their natural and constitutional physical and military defence.

In order to avoid the recurrence of this dilemma in future, by the 4th section of this bill it is provided, "That whenever the United States, or any of their territories, shall be invaded, or shall be, in the opinion of the president of the United States, in danger of being invaded, from any foreign nation or Indian tribe, he shall have authority to call forth such number of the militia as he may judge to be sufficient to repel such invasion."

There are two points of importance in this provision. 1. The president is authorised to order out the militia, not only upon the existence of actual invasion, but upon the danger of invasion. 2. He is left to be the sole judge of the danger. The question is, whether the above provision is constitutional? There is nothing said in the constitution about calling out the militia to repel expected invasion. It was naturally supposed, by the framers of that instrument, that invasion from a foreign power could scarcely happen without sufficient warning being given for the national government to provide against it. And with regard to such circumstances as not to admit of delay, provision is made for it in another part of the constitution, viz: in the 10th section of the 1st article, in the following manner: "No state shall engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay." If the constitution had said nothing on the subject of "danger of invasion," the argument in favor of extending the construction so far as to comprehend that case, would at least have plausibility in its favor. But here we find that it was distinctly before them, formed a subject of their consideration, and ample provision was made for it by authorizing the individual states, in that excepted case, to engage in war for the purpose of repelling the invasion, or, as the case might be, of preventing it. And the danger must be "imminent," and such "as will not admit of delay," for if it be only remote, the individual states must leave it to the nation; and the nation, by the adoption of the constitution, is bound by the most solemn obligations to provide for it.

Annapolis, Feb. 5.

MONUMENT TO BARON DE KALB. Extract of a letter from Philip Reed, esq. one of our representatives in congress, to William Spencer, Esq. president of the senate of Maryland.

Washington, Jan. 6, 1818.

DEAR SIR—Permit me to trouble you on a subject of a public nature, that has been permitted to sleep very quietly for nearly 38 years. I allude to a resolution of congress, passed on the 14th day of October, 1780, directing that a monument be erected in the city of Annapolis, to the memory of major general the Baron de Kalb, who was mortally wounded on the 16th of August, 1780, in an action near Camden, and died of his wounds three days after. The Baron, as you will perceive by a reference to the act, commanded the Maryland line at the time of his death. Hence it was, the monument was to be placed in Annapolis. This subject will be called up during the present session of congress. As, however, the U. States, does not own any land in the city, at least that might afford a proper site, I submit to your consideration the propriety of appropriating by a law during your session, a piece of land for this purpose. I can hardly suppose it possible that the U. States, even at this late hour, will refuse to redeem the public faith, so solemnly pledged upon so solemn an occasion."

The following resolution on this subject has passed the senate, and is now before the house of delegates:

BY THE SENATE,

January 30, 1818.

Resolved, That the governor and council be and they are hereby authorised to designate, and appropriate such part of the public grounds in the city of Annapolis, as a site for a monument to be erected to the memory of Major-Gen. Baron de Kalb, in pursuance of the resolution of congress of the 14th of October, 1780, as the person or persons who may be authorised by congress to erect the same, in conjunction with the governor and council, may think most suitable for this purpose. By order,

R. HARWOOD, Clerk.

The following is the resolution of the congress of the United States, above alluded to, extracted from the journal of their proceedings of the 14th of October, 1780.

Saturday, October 14, 1780.

Resolved, That a monument be erected to the memory of the late Major-General the Baron de Kalb, in the city of Annapolis, in the state of Maryland, with the following inscription:

Sacred to the Memory of the BARON DE KALB,
Knight of the royal order of military merit,

Brigadier of the armies of France, and Major-general in the service of the U. S. of America:

Having served with honor and reputation for three years,

He gave a just and glorious proof of his attachment to the liberties of mankind and the cause of America,

In the action near Camden, in the state of South Carolina, on the 16th of August, 1780: where leading on the troops of the Maryland and Delaware lines against superior numbers,

And animating them by his example to deeds of valor,

He was pierced with many wounds, and

On the 19th following expired, in the 48th year of his age.

The Congress of the United States of America,

In gratitude to his zeal, services and merit,

Have erected this monument.

From the Connecticut Courant.

There has been recently translated into English, a Turkish account of wars with Russia, by Reami Archmed Efendi, an officer of high standing and great influence at the court of Constantinople. The historian assigns eight reasons for the bad success of the Turkish arms against Russia; of which the last is, that the troops marched out to war, when Saturn and Mars were in conjunction with the sign of Cancer."

So firmly did the Turkish Divan believe in astrology, that they attributed the old Prussian Frederick's tide of good fortune, to the help of that science. Accordingly, the Sultan Mustapha, sent Reami Archmed to Berlin, and furnished him with private instructions to use all his eloquence to induce the king of Prussia to cede Turax of his skillful astrologers to the Sultan. "This sapient message was faithfully delivered by him to Frederick; and he was informed through the medium of his interpreter, that a definitive answer would soon be given to his request. At the subsequent audience, Frederick led the Turk to a window which commanded the great square, then filled with soldiery. And at the same time that he pointed out his troops to the Ambassador, he told him that his three advisers in war and peace, were Experience, Discipline and Economy;—these, and these alone, he concluded, are my three chief astrologers—I have no others; and this is the secret, which I beg you to impart to our good friend the Sultan Mustapha."

PRACTICAL REFLECTIONS.

In free elective governments, the true character is clearly seen in that of their rulers. If these are wise men, fully competent to the duties of their offices, men who eschew evil, who fear God, and hate covetousness; it is then plain that such is the people which gave them rule; that the freedom who put them into office are themselves an enlightened and virtuous body. On the contrary, whenever, and wheresoever, in a free country, the rulers are incompetent in point of knowledge, or of loose morals, or of tainted character and reputation, it is an infallible proof that the people love to have it so, and of course that the people, or at least a majority of the people, are either deplorably ignorant, or deplorably corrupted in moral taste and feeling. As is the shepherd, so are the sheep. They have the shepherd's mark upon them.—They are not only marked, but the express image of the shepherd is impressed upon their foreheads. Hence, rulers of superior excellence reflect honor upon the people they govern, because their wisdom, their integrity, their moral rectitude, clearly evince the wisdom, the integrity, and the moral rectitude, of the body politic that elected them, and gives them support. So, by the rule of contraries, incapable rulers, and rulers that are wrong-headed and wrong hearted, reflect foul disgrace upon the people—because there is proof positive, that the people at large, are either naturally or willfully blind, or else possessed of a grossness of disposition. The truth is, when rulers are naught, they are but the instruments, which, in the righteous judgment of heaven, a naughty people voluntarily, but blindly uses for its own punishment. What has been here said is of a general character, and is not meant for any individuals other than those who shall see cause to take it to themselves. [ibid.]

A TEACHING SNAKE OF HISTORY.

In the 12th century, the divisions and animosities that had subsisted between the free republics of Italy greatly increased in violence by the assumption of two party names. Guelph and Ghibelin. A Guelph hated a Ghibelin, with all his heart and soul, and a Ghibelin hated a Guelph with the like inveteracy, more on account of this nominal distinction than for any thing else. These party names were kept up for ages and generations after the particular cause of applying them had ceased, and after the mass of the people had become altogether ignorant of the reason why the respective parties were so called; but nevertheless, the distant posterity of the original Guelphs and Ghibelins harbored the same venom of heart toward one another as their forefathers did a century or two before. A Guelph deserved to have his throat cut for his name, and a Ghibelin for his;—this was the opinion of the ignorant and violent rabble, just as they happened to be attached to the one side or to the other. The rival names of Guelph and Ghibelin, as they furnished full play for aspiring imaginations, had no inconsiderable influence in the destruction of the liberties of Italy—of which some parts were once as free as are any parts of the United States. Stuart, and commanded by Capt. Ballard.—This ship is allowed to be the finest vessel of her class ever built in America. Her battery is 2500 tons. She will proceed, in a few days, to the Mediterranean, to join the American squadron.

LONDON CORN EXCHANGE, DEC. 23.

Our market was well supplied with wheat this morning from Essex, Kent and Suffolk; when that of fine quality obtained last Monday's prices, but the sales were far from brisk, and a tolerably large quantity remained on hand at the close of the market. We had a large arrival of Barley from Suffolk, the prime samples sold early in the morning, at last week's prices, but the trade became very heavy afterwards, and the prices were 2s per quarter cheaper towards noon. In Peas, Beans, and Oats there is no alteration.

We are still without supplies of any magnitude, and our market was to-day nearly deserted by country dealers; it was dull in the extreme. For New and higher prices were asked than we had quoted, but 5s per bushel was with difficulty obtained. All other articles remain as on this day's night.

E. with heavy rain, which caused her to leak very much, and kept the pumps constantly at work—the sea, at times, making a fair breach over her. The M. has sustained considerable damage, having lost jib, jib-boom and rigging, her bulwarks washed away, and being compelled to throw over part of her wood, water, and nearly every thing on deck, with about 60 fathoms of cable—was preparing to throw overboard part of her cargo, when the gale abated, and the Maria bore away for this port to rest.

A SPIRITED TOURNAMENT. Timour and Zorilda enter and seat themselves on thrones to witness the Combat of Kerim & Sanballat, who at that moment enter the LISTS on HORSEBACK. Kerim's Horse takes part in the combat, and drags Sanballat to the ground. Kerim dismounts and proposes to renew the combat on foot—the horses are led away and the fight begins. Kerim falls and loses his sword; his rival rushes to despatch him; at that instant, Kerim's Horse interposes to save his Master. TIMOUR IS OVERTHROWN, but Zorilda spares his life at the intercession of Agib and Oglou. RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges.
Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humors and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.
Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebra or large round worm; the Ascarides or small saw-worm; the Cucurbitaria or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs; and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

HAHN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak in favour of a medicine than calumnies of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.
